FLUID POWER CONFERENCE & EXPO TO CO-LOCATE WITH WASTE EXPO

NEW YORK, NY (November 25, 2008) – Hydraulics & Pneumatics is gearing up for its fifth bi-annual FLUID POWER CONFERENCE & EXPO <http://www.fluidpowerexpo.com> which will co-locate with WASTE EXPO on June 8-11, 2009 in Las Vegas, NV www.wasteexpo.com. This exciting event provides an excellent networking and sales opportunity for manufacturers and suppliers of fluid power components, systems, and related products and services that drive industry today. FLUID POWER CONFERENCE & EXPO presents state-of-the-art fluid power technology with such products and services as hydraulic and pneumatic components, systems, controls, and materials.

More than 500 professionals who are involved in the design, installation, maintenance, or repair of machinery & equipment powered by fluid power systems, both hydraulic and pneumatic, will be invited to attend. These attendees cover a wide range of markets including construction, agricultural, mining, marine, offshore, and other types of heavy equipment, food processing, and packaging industries as well as maintenance, repair, and plant operations.

We are pleased to announce that the 2009 FLUID POWER CONFERENCE & EXPO now offers a larger, more extensive conference program. Sessions are designed to update, inform, and educate show attendees with presentations on best practices, innovative problem-solving techniques, guidelines and applications, and examples of real-world solutions.

Attendees will be seeking to hone their technical knowledge by enrolling in sessions covering everything from the basics of hydraulic and pneumatic components and circuit and system design to advanced contamination control and filtration techniques and closed-loop electrohydraulic motion control system design.
